

Disclaimer

The information on this website is solely intended as general information and no rights can be derived from this information. Valioso cannot be held liable for any damages due to incorrect or incomplete information on this website.

In case you want to use the information on this website, our prior written approval is necessary. The website contains information which is protected by copyright law, trademark law and other intellectual property law.

When you send information to Valioso via e-mail or the contact form on this website, this information is not secured. Valioso will of course process your personal data with care. You can read more about this in our privacy statement.